Description

Picture waking up to your private chef preparing breakfast while tropical birds sing in the garden. That's just another morning at Villa Adia in Casa de Campo's peaceful El Molino neighborhood.

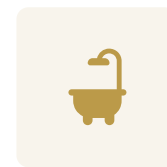

This five-bedroom retreat sleeps 13 guests across thoughtfully designed spaces. The master suite offers a king bed and workspace. Two guest rooms each feature queen beds. A dedicated kids' room with bunk beds keeps younger guests happy. Every bedroom includes its own bathroom: no morning queues here.

The heart of the villa? An open-plan living area where soaring wooden ceilings meet floor-to-ceiling glass walls. Natural light floods the space, highlighting the contemporary furnishings and that eye-catching blue statement chair. The chef's kitchen, complete with marble island, becomes a natural gathering spot.

Your dedicated team handles everything. The chef crafts meals from fresh local ingredients. The butler anticipates your needs. The housekeeper
